

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Sees "Jane" Given by Members of the Younger Smart Set—Mr. Kuhn Celebrates Birthday—The Sorrows of Danny

YOU ought to have gone with me out to Wayne on Monday night to hear those girls play "Jane." It was a fully good. Sophie Yarnall was Jane, the heroine of the play, and she was simply great. Agnes Yarnall brought down the house as Mrs. Platon, and can you picture Margaretta Large as an old lady? Well, she was, and acted splendidly! Virginia Heckscher was a "sweet young girl" in the play, and she certainly looked the part. Of course, Howard Ritter, who was the butler, acted well; he always does; he's almost professional.

The families of the actors and actresses were there in full force in the front rows, with much applause, and between the acts George Gibbs, Jr., and Joe Harrison played saxophones in the manner of the Brown brothers, of Jack o' Lantern fame, who play on all different-sized saxophones. Well, George and Joe were wonderful!

The Wayne Theatre was packed to the doors more than a half hour before the play was even scheduled to begin, so you may know whether the Reed Street House had a good benefit or not.

THE Hartman Kuhn dinner was very interesting last night. You know Mrs. Kuhn entertained at the Rabbit in honor of Mr. Kuhn's birthday. It happens that Mr. William Whelan, who is Mrs. Kuhn's son by her first marriage, has a birthday within two days of Mr. Kuhn, and so the families for a number of years have celebrated the days together. Last night there were twenty-two guests, mostly members of the family, though one or two extra intimate friends were there. You know William Whelan married Miss Virginia Arter, of Pittsburgh, the one who has such a lovely voice.

HAVE you seen that good looking blue silk frock with white frills that Mrs. John Shipley Dixon is wearing? It has a white collar and collar and the skirt is most gracefully draped at the sides. She wears a dark blue georgette hat trimmed with white flowers with the gown and the effect against her light hair is most attractive.

DID you hear about the troubles of my small friend Danny? You know he is the angel child I have often told you of, whose cheeks are like roses and whose eyes are like the skies. He is two years and a half old now. His uncle and aunt are building a house on the grounds of his grandmother's place and much time is spent near the foundations of the new house by Danny and his small cousin.

It was Sunday evening and Danny, looking more like a cherub than anything human, dressed in fresh white with a pale blue bow under his chin, was allowed to go out on the lawn for a few moments of play before going to bed.

Suddenly the air was rent with frightful yells and shrieks. One aunt rushed out the back door, another through the kitchen door, while uncle tore through the front door. Grandmother ran to the front window and mother almost fell down the stairs from the third story. At that moment nothing, but as the yells continued they spied coming up the end of the dirt path a pale coffee-colored object, which looked somewhat like a prehistoric bug. The yells were proceeding from said object, and to their amazement and, I must whisper it, intense amusement, for he was once recognized as Danny. But a Danny not hurt nor injured. A Danny in a foaming rage, crying "Mother! Mother! I want mother, don't 'peck' me; don't 'top' me, I want mother!"

He had gone down to the foundations to play, had slipped in a hole and was down in it and in trying to get up had lost his balance and slid down the side of the foundation, which was at least eight feet into soft brown mud. Then he had had to dig out of that. And he was mud from top to toe, hair, face, clothes. So that when mother finally reached him she removed his once dainty clothes right then and there on the front lawn, and picking him up by the few clean spots left dropped him and his offended dignity into the tub.

NANCY WYNNE.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Mr. Eugene Reynal, of New York, is visiting Mr. Barklie McK. Henry, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Barklie Henry, of Pine Cottage, Rosemont, who entertained at dinner for him last evening. The other guests were Miss Anita Strawbridge, Miss Anne Ashton, Miss Ellen Douglas, Miss Elizabeth McMichael, Miss Gertrude L. Conway, Mr. George Gibbs, Jr., Mr. Morris Duane and Mr. Brinton Roberts. The guests attended the dance which Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Clothier gave in honor of their daughter, Miss Emily E. Clothier.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Samuel, of Twenty-second and Locust streets, will entertain at dinner on Friday, at their summer home in Narragansett Pier, in honor of Miss Elizabeth Chatham and their son, Mr. Snowden Samuel, whose engagement has recently been announced.

Mr. George H. McFadden, of Eighteenth and Spruce streets, will entertain in honor of Miss Rebecca Thomson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomson, at a large ball on Friday, November 28. Another large ball will be given on December 31 by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brinton Cox in honor of their daughter, Miss Catherine Cox. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Browning, of 245 South Sixteenth street, will give a dinner before the ball in honor of Miss H. Pauline Bell, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bell.

Mrs. Alfred Norris and Miss Dorothy L. Norris will give a house party over the Fourth of July at The Lodge, their summer home at Narragansett Pier, R. I.

Mr. and Mrs. Walton Clark, Jr., and their small daughter will spend the summer in Cape May. Mr. Clark has just returned from France, where he was stationed for two years. Mrs. Clark's mother, Mrs. J. Hutchison Scott, will spend the Fourth of July at her guest.

Lieutenant Colonel O. H. Perry, medical corps, U. S. A., arrived home last night on the Kroenland and is spending a short time with Mrs.

Pepper in St. Davids before going to Camp Dix to be mustered out.

Mrs. George H. Strawbridge, of Bala, will leave this week on a motor trip through the New England states. Her son, Mr. Daniel C. Strawbridge, has gone to Camp Teunisch, N. H., for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris W. Stroud, of Villanova, left yesterday to motor to Northeast Harbor, where they will spend the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stroud, Jr., will spend two weeks with them the end of July.

Mrs. Joseph M. Gazzam has as her guests over the Fourth, Mrs. Charles Ayers, of New York; Miss Hedda Koch, of New Orleans, and Mr. Robert Rogers, of Havre de Grace, Md.

Friends of Mrs. Francis King Wainwright will be glad to hear that she is recovering from a slight operation and will be able to leave the hospital tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright and their son will go to Northeast Harbor on July 10.

Mr. and Mrs. William Innes Forbes, of Villanova, left for Ventnor yesterday, where they will occupy their cottage for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Adler, of Germantown, have taken a cottage at Pocomo Lake Preserve for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Merrick, of Germantown, will leave on Friday for Bay Head to spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Heckscher Werrell arrived in Cape May yesterday to spend the summer. They will have Mr. Alfred Sergeant as their guest over the Fourth of July.

Mrs. Francis S. Dougherty, Miss Gertrude Dougherty and Mr. Webster Dougherty are staying at the Chalfonte Hotel, Cape May, for this month.

Mrs. James Mapes Dodge has taken a cottage at Chelsea for the summer.

Mrs. Craig Lippincott, of 1025 Spruce street, will spend the summer at Cape May. Her daughter, Mrs. Samuel K. Reeves, of 316 South Twenty-first street, with Mr. Reeves, will leave next week to join her family at the Lippincott camp, on Lake Osgood.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Painter, of Creasheim road, Chestnut Hill, will spend the summer in Ocean City and in October will take an automobile trip to the White Mountains, Niagara and Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Emmott Caldwell and their family, of Bryn Mawr, are occupying their cottage at Ventnor.

Mr. and Mrs. William du Pont, Jr., who have been attending the Horse Show in Chicago, returned to Fox Catcher Farm, their place in Newtown Square on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tetlow, 24, have taken a house at Edgartown, Mass., for the summer. Mr. Tetlow recently returned from France where he served as a first lieutenant.

Mrs. Carl Meyer, who has been visiting Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. Charles P. Clayton, of Germantown, will return to her home in Washington the end of this week. Mrs. Meyer will be remembered as Miss Sarah Clayton.

Miss Edith Wilson, of 13 Jefferson street, Cape May, has as her guests for a few days Mr. and Mrs. Sloan Roberts, of Baltimore.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Mary Yarnall Casey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Casey of Merion and First Lieutenant Thomas Currie Sims, air service, United States army, which took place at Bay Shore, L. I., on Monday, June 23.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Atkinson Bates, of Wynnewood road, Overbrook, are spending some time at the Traymore in Atlantic City.

Mr. and Mrs. William Merritt Hurlburt are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter, Katherine Emily Hurlburt, on June 11. Mrs. Hurlburt was Miss Caroline Ballenger, of Germantown.

Mr. William H. Creamer of Oak Lane entertained at dinner in honor of his nephew, Mr. George Brooke Creamer, who has just returned from France.

Among the guests were Lieutenant Albaugh, Sergeant George S. Weightman, Mr. Serne, Mr. McQuade, Mr. Hamilton, of Canada, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Creamer, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Creamer, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. Levin, Miss Leroy, Miss Seitz, Miss Wilson, Miss Jordan, Miss Edna McCullough, Miss Mary McCullough, Miss Smith, Miss Marion Moore, Miss Helen Moore, Miss Agnes Moore and Miss Mary Creamer.

The marriage of Miss Claire Goldsorb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goldsorb, of 1215 North Fifty-second street and Mr. Louis Myerson, took place on Sunday evening in Apollo Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Myerson left for Atlantic City and will travel through the South.

Mr. John T. Kilpatrick announces the engagement of his sister, Miss Mary B. Kilpatrick, of the Kenneth apartments, and Mr. George B. Grey, Jr., also of West Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Wadas, of Highland Park, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Thillie Wadas and Mr. George Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hughes, of 8502 Lansdowne avenue, Llanerch.

Miss Margaret V. English will give a dance at her home tomorrow, in honor of Independence Day. Among the guests present will be Mr. Milton Radcliffe, of Parkside avenue, who has recently returned from the service.

$25,000 Clear at Devon Horse Show

Dr. Thomas G. Ashton, chairman and treasurer of the recent Devon Horse Show and Country Fair, has announced that as a result of the exhibition at Devon there will be $25,000 to turn into the treasury of the Bryn Mawr Hospital, for the benefit of which institution the fair was held.

FIRE MARSHAL ISSUES DON'TS FOR JULY 4TH

Elliott Says Best Way to Escape Injury Is to Join Community Celebrations

"If you want to enjoy the Fourth of July," said George W. Elliott, fire marshal, in advocating a safe and sane celebration of Independence Day, "take the children to one of the big neighborhood celebrations in any section of the city or the celebration for the whole city arranged for by the committee of Councils. If you insist on having your own and using fireworks, then—"

"DON'T be surprised if serious injury happens to a member of your family, especially the children;

"DON'T fail to have in mind the nearest firebox and how to pull it, or the nearest phone and the way to get help;

"DON'T fail to keep a watchful eye on children with matches and burning punk; they ignite more than fireworks;

"DON'T fail to watch the small boy with the gun. He will want to imitate the soldier this year if never before;

"DON'T fail to warn the children of the danger of the firecracker and the other fireworks that 'have gone off'.

"Owners of buildings with large open areas are especially warned to see that watchmen remain on duty all day and all night. Toy balloons are forbidden by the act of Assembly. Do not buy them and do not use them if given to you. Toy balloons specified in the act are the ones sent up by igniting cotton saturated with easily burned liquid."

"DON'T fail to keep a watchful eye on children with matches and burning punk; they ignite more than fireworks;

"DON'T fail to watch the small boy with the gun. He will want to imitate the soldier this year if never before;

"DON'T fail to warn the children of the danger of the firecracker and the other fireworks that 'have gone off'.

"Owners of buildings with large open areas are especially warned to see that watchmen remain on duty all day and all night. Toy balloons are forbidden by the act of Assembly. Do not buy them and do not use them if given to you. Toy balloons specified in the act are the ones sent up by igniting cotton saturated with easily burned liquid."

"DON'T fail to keep a watchful eye on children with matches and burning punk; they ignite more than fireworks;

"DON'T fail to watch the small boy with the gun. He will want to imitate the soldier this year if never before;

"DON'T fail to warn the children of the danger of the firecracker and the other fireworks that 'have gone off'.

"Owners of buildings with large open areas are especially warned to see that watchmen remain on duty all day and all night. Toy balloons are forbidden by the act of Assembly. Do not buy them and do not use them if given to you. Toy balloons specified in the act are the ones sent up by igniting cotton saturated with easily burned liquid."

"DON'T fail to keep a watchful eye on children with matches and burning punk; they ignite more than fireworks;

"DON'T fail to watch the small boy with the gun. He will want to imitate the soldier this year if never before;

"DON'T fail to warn the children of the danger of the firecracker and the other fireworks that 'have gone off'.

"Owners of buildings with large open areas are especially warned to see that watchmen remain on duty all day and all night. Toy balloons are forbidden by the act of Assembly. Do not buy them and do not use them if given to you. Toy balloons specified in the act are the ones sent up by igniting cotton saturated with easily burned liquid."

PUBLIC BATHS OPEN SOON

Twenty to Be Maintained—Monday and Friday for Women

Young America should rejoice, for on Saturday next he will have an opportunity to take his annual plunge in one of the pools of the twenty public bathhouses maintained by the city, which will open for the season on that day, and will be kept open until late in September. All of these conveniences have been thoroughly renovated and in some instances needed repairs made under the supervision of the Board of Recreation.

The baths will be kept open daily from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., except on Sundays, when they will be closed at noon. Mondays and Fridays have been assigned as "ladies' days," on which occasions the baths will be in charge of a matron.

The public baths are located at Second and Cumberland streets, Third and Queen streets, Eighth and Green streets, Eighth and Lombard streets, Eighth and Milford streets, Eleventh street above Girard avenue, Twelfth and Reed streets, Thirtieth street and Ridge avenue, Fifty-seventh and Summer streets, Sixty-third street and Woodland avenue, Albert and Memphis streets, Reach and Laurel streets, Front and Thompson streets, Bridge and Orthodox streets, Howard and Ontario streets, Montrose and Darlen streets, Myer street and Montgomery avenue, Ridge avenue and Ferry road and State road and Cotton street.

Archbishop Dougherty is president of the hospital. The administration is under the care of the Sisters of Mercy. In the school of nurses of the hospital there are forty pupils. Several days ago the new home for nurses was completed and the nurses moved in.

Dr. Peter F. Moylan is chief medical director of the staff. The X-ray department of the hospital is considered to be as complete as it is possible for equipment and direction to make any such department. The department is in charge of Dr. Pfahler, who is considered an authority in this work.

Up to the present time the whole fourth floor of the hospital has been employed by the American International Shipbuilding Corporation at Hog Island.

Archbishop Dougherty is president of the hospital. The administration is under the care of the Sisters of Mercy. In the school of nurses of the hospital there are forty pupils. Several days ago the new home for nurses was completed and the nurses moved in.

Dr. Peter F. Moylan is chief medical director of the staff. The X-ray department of the hospital is considered to be as complete as it is possible for equipment and direction to make any such department. The department is in charge of Dr. Pfahler, who is considered an authority in this work.

Up to the present time the whole fourth floor of the hospital has been employed by the American International Shipbuilding Corporation at Hog Island.

Archbishop Dougherty is president of the hospital. The administration is under the care of the Sisters of Mercy. In the school of nurses of the hospital there are forty pupils. Several days ago the new home for nurses was completed and the nurses moved in.

Dr. Peter F. Moylan is chief medical director of the staff. The X-ray department of the hospital is considered to be as complete as it is possible for equipment and direction to make any such department. The department is in charge of Dr. Pfahler, who is considered an authority in this work.

Up to the present time the whole fourth floor of the hospital has been employed by the American International Shipbuilding Corporation at Hog Island.

MISS CRESSWELL DIES

Society Girl, War-Work Martyr Succumbs From Influenza

Miss Mary Cresswell, prominent in Philadelphia society and in tennis circles, died suddenly yesterday, following an operation.

Miss Cresswell, who was the daughter of Mrs. H. N. Cresswell, of Edgewater Park, N. J., undermined her health in stress of work at Camp Dix, where she performed her service as a volunteer nurse during the influenza epidemic. She also engaged in many other forms of war relief.

Miss Cresswell had played successfully in many tennis tournaments and was a member of the women's tennis team of the Philadelphia Country Club.

BASEBALL CHAPLAIN TALKS

The Rev. T. W. Davis, pastor of Athletes, Aids Revival Tonight

Rev. Thomas W. Davis, the "Chaplain of the Athletics," who is known to baseball players throughout the country, has joined forces with the Presbyterian evangelistic committee, and will preach at the test at Ontario and H. streets.

The Rev. Mr. Davis is a Methodist minister and at present holds the position of Protestant pastor under the Interchurch Federation of Philadelphia at Hog Island. For several years he was pastor of the Abigail Vane Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, in South Philadelphia.

High Black, widely known in political circles in South Philadelphia, will preside at a mass-meeting in the Presbyterian tent at Twenty-fourth and Third streets this evening. The Men's Friendly Union Band, of the John Chambers Memorial Presbyterian Church, will play selections, and Colonel William Murphy will be the principal speaker.

P. S. DU PONT AIDS SOLDIERS

Thirty-five Service Men to Convalesce on Farm

An invitation has been extended by Pierre S. du Pont to about thirty-five ex-service men who have been wounded or gassed to convalesce on his farm near Kennett Square.

Notification of this was received by the Knights of Columbus Employment Bureau through Doctor J. E. Evans, Mr. du Pont's physician. According to Doctor Evans, it is Mr. du Pont's intention to establish a convalescent hospital on the farm to be known as the Longwood Reconstruction Center. The men will be taken care of without expense to themselves.

Through its vocational placement bureau the Jewish Welfare Board, instead of merely finding a job for a man, intends to find "the right job for the right man." The old system of merely filling jobs, the board declares, has proved unsatisfactory.

FOLWELL ESTATE $106,500

Mrs. N. T. Folwell Wills Property to Husband, Son and Grandchild

Letters of administration were granted by Registrar Sheehan in the estate of Sarah H. Folwell, wife of Nathan T. Folwell, of 2008 Spring Garden street. The estate, valued at $106,500, goes to the husband, one son and a grandchild.

Wills probated this morning were as follows: The will of Isabella Melvor, 1842 East Allegheny avenue, distributes $2401 to relatives; of Thomas C. Smith, 575 North Thirty-fourth street, leaves $6200 to relatives; and of James R. Connelly, 4416 Larchwood avenue, $3721 to relatives.

Mrs. N. T. Folwell Wills Property to Husband, Son and Grandchild

Letters of administration were granted by Registrar Sheehan in the estate of Sarah H. Folwell, wife of Nathan T. Folwell, of 2008 Spring Garden street. The estate, valued at $106,500, goes to the husband, one son and a grandchild.

Wills probated this morning were as follows: The will of Isabella Melvor, 1842 East Allegheny avenue, distributes $2401 to relatives; of Thomas C. Smith, 575 North Thirty-fourth street, leaves $6200 to relatives; and of James R. Connelly, 4416 Larchwood avenue, $3721 to relatives.

Mrs. N. T. Folwell Wills Property to Husband, Son and Grandchild

Letters of administration were granted by Registrar Sheehan in the estate of Sarah H. Folwell, wife of Nathan T. Folwell, of 2008 Spring Garden street. The estate, valued at $106,500, goes to the husband, one son and a grandchild.

Wills probated this morning were as follows: The will of Isabella Melvor, 1842 East Allegheny avenue, distributes $2401 to relatives; of Thomas C. Smith, 575 North Thirty-fourth street, leaves $6200 to relatives; and of James R. Connelly, 4416 Larchwood avenue, $3721 to relatives.

Mrs. N. T. Folwell Wills Property to Husband, Son and Grandchild

Letters of administration were granted by Registrar Sheehan in the estate of Sarah H. Folwell, wife of Nathan T. Folwell, of 2008 Spring Garden street. The estate, valued at $106,500, goes to the husband, one son and a grandchild.

Wills probated this morning were as follows: The will of Isabella Melvor, 1842 East Allegheny avenue, distributes $2401 to relatives; of Thomas C. Smith, 575 North Thirty-fourth street, leaves $6200 to relatives; and of James R. Connelly, 4416 Larchwood avenue, $3721 to relatives.

Mrs. N. T. Folwell Wills Property to Husband, Son and Grandchild

Letters of administration were granted by Registrar Sheehan in the estate of Sarah H. Folwell, wife of Nathan T. Folwell, of 2008 Spring Garden street. The estate, valued at $106,500, goes to the husband, one son and a grandchild.

Wills probated this morning were as follows: The will of Isabella Melvor, 1842 East Allegheny avenue, distributes $2401 to relatives; of Thomas C. Smith, 575 North Thirty-fourth street, leaves $6200 to relatives; and of James R. Connelly, 4416 Larchwood avenue, $3721 to relatives.

MARY WAS A MYSTERY

She Was Pretty and Young and Silent and —

Mary undoubtedly had a large circle of friends.

Certainly she did, if any idea of the exact number can be ascertained by the greeting she received on entering a Chestnut street car at Thirteenth at least three-quarters of the passengers smiled sweetly at her.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still, her mouth remained closed and her features placid. Was Mary conceited?

Use your own judgment in considering, but remember that Mary was undoubtedly only about two years old.

Mary undoubtedly was pretty. Certainly she was, if not only men stared into her sky-blue eyes and tried in vain to catch her eye, but women and girls, humans of her own sex, leaned forward anxiously in an unsuccessful attempt to persuade her to speak.

But was Mary silent?

Certainly she was, if not the car riders rose in their seats in an effort to express their pleasure at her unexpected company. Still